

Intense Propolis

In its simplest form

Propolis is probably the best evidence of what miracles bees are capable of achieving. This organic material is gathered from plant buds and then transformed by the worker bees. It contains botanical resins, vegetable balsams, waxes, essential oils and pollen and is a real gift to our wellbeing.

Since 1979 Propolia® has been presenting the best of Propolis through an extensive range of products which demonstrates our knowledge of this material and its incredible uses.

PURE CHEWABLE PROPOLIS

The best of propolis

A unique product, free from impurities and tailored in-house using our traditional know-how, this chewable Propolis releases all of its natural benefits. Its purifying qualities reinforce the hygiene of the mouth and throat.

All you have to do is to keep one of these small bars in the mouth and very quickly the characteristic flavour and fizzing become apparent. Without doubt it's one of the best ways to experience the power of French Propolis.

Keep in the mouth (kept between cheek and gum or simply on the tongue) and chew one of these little sticks to slowly warm it up: the Propolis gets mixed with the saliva to diffuse in the mouth.

PROPOLIS SICCATIVE POWDER

Tested under paediatric control it is also perfectly suitable for easing nappy rash.

Main ingredients: 100% MICRONISED PROPOLIS EXTRACT (a unique procedure)

30 g powder container

For whom?

For adults and children whose skin frequently suffers from rashes or for those who want to help gardening scratches and scrapes to disappear. It can also be used to sanitise shoes.

French propolis : a scarce commodity

Since its beginnings, Propolia® has been working closely with French beekeepers to obtain a quality Propolis. Naturally we owe this quality to our consumers who above all require healthy products, good for their well-being and concentrated in active ingredients.

Thus Propolia® products have always striven to offer formulations highly concentrated in Propolis. We do not compromise when it comes to guarantee of quality and potency. But, this Propolis concentration requires the use of almost 10 tons of extracts per year manufactured in our laboratories.

Despite all the efforts of our beekeeping partners and our daily commitment, the situation with French beekeeping has become a real concern: varroa, Asian hornet, colony collapse phenomena, endocrine disruptors, anomalies in our modern climate... Our little Bees are encountering increasing difficulty to ensure their own survival. On top of this, the evermore restrictive European regulations make it difficult for Propolia® to rely only on a 100% French Propolis supply, especially an organic Propolis. This is of course to be regretted.

In order to ensure the same quality level and high concentration in active ingredients which make up the potency of our products, we have expanded the scope of supply to new beekeeping partners in Europe without sacrificing the organoleptic characteristics of the Propolis: always brown, always rich, always qualitative. This step is in line with our desire to harmonise our different propolis batches, which have diverse and synergistic plant origins.

However we would never give up on our French beekeeping partners, so we maintain a large part of French Propolis in our product range. Simultaneously we work together with them on a daily basis to achieve more sustainable production processes in the light of these new challenges, in close collaboration with the UNAF (French beekeeping association).

In the hope that better days will come, Propolia® continues to evolve while keeping in mind that which motivates us every day - our customers' well-being !
